

Project SEARCH is a SCHOOL TRANSITION TO WORK PROGRAM that provides employment and education opportunities to individuals with cognitive and physical disabilities. The Project SEARCH model focuses on providing opportunities for individuals with disabilities to gain marketable and transferable skills.

About Project SEARCH

Project SEARCH is a one-year, school transition program that provides training and education that may lead to employment for individuals with disabilities.

The cornerstone of Project SEARCH is total immersion in a large business. Five days a week, students report to the host business, learn employability skills in the classroom and job skills while participating in a variety of internships/experiences.

Certified special education teachers and job coaches work with both the students and the business staff. Students end their day by reflection, problem solving, planning and journaling their key learning.

Established in July 1988, Project SEARCH is a collaborative effort of Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center, as well as schools, business, community mental health partners, and state vocational rehabilitation agencies. Each of these organizations is an active partner in providing vocational training and employment for people with disabilities.
